

Open Data, Transparency & Bristol Saving the World In 6 SLIDES

(not including this one)

Thing 1: Bad Stuff is Happening

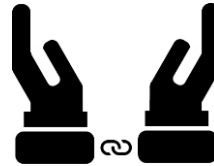

Fake News

Brexit, Trump, AntiVax, Anti Science

Global Warming

Modern Slavery

Extreme Poverty

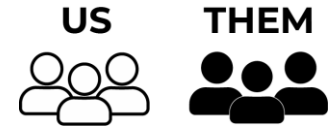

The Rise of Intolerance

Fraud

Corruption

Toxic Tribalism

But Why??

Thing 2: Everything (data) must flow

“Constructal Law states that for a finite-size system to persist in time (to live), it must evolve in such a way that it provides easier access to the imposed currents that flow through it.”

Professor Adrian Bejan*, 1996

Thing 3: Bad things grow in the dark. We need the light switch.

“Carillion used suppliers to “prop up a failing business model” and conceal true levels of debt, say MPs investigating the failed government contractor.”

Thing 4: We need more than just open data

For real transparency we need live, interconnected open data with:

- Buying leverage
- Transparency tech
- Corporate supply chains
- And a change of the game mechanics

 5M Deeper-tier Supply chain links	 500k+ UK Suppliers	 917 UK Public Bodies	 >1k Conflict Mineral Statements
 11k+ Processed UK Modern Slavery Act Compliance Statements	 2k TISC CA Statements	 100k+ Large Global Suppliers	 Welsh Government Supply Chain Data

*ask me if you want to know more about the game theory

Thing 5: Bristol is saving the world...

- The first in the world to commit to supply chain transparency
- The home of the world's largest (and only!) open data supply chain transparency register
- Leading the world: Australia, New Zealand, Kenya and Pakistan

"We should not wait for the world to save itself through treaties and alliances. It is for cities to set the example on things that matter, from climate change, inequality and eradication of exploitation.

Transparency in supply chains starts with transparency of actions taken, and I will ensure that all council procurement requires that suppliers comply [with the Modern Slavery Act 2015] and submit their anti-slavery statements to tiscreport.org.

Our city was built through the sacrifices of victims of the Transatlantic slave trade. But together with Bristol's business community we will ensure that slavery has no place to hide in our city."

Marvin Rees, Elected Mayor, City of Bristol

Thing 6: You can make this happen faster

- If you're a member of the public: ask your favourite brands to share their supply chains with @tiscreport
- If you're an employee: ask your employer to join TISCReport
- If you're a voter: ask your politicians to ensure that public money is only spent with transparent suppliers
- If you're data geeks like us: talk to us about potential joins

Ask the question.
